III. Use of Cookies, Tracking Technologies, and other Electronic Tools

A “cookie” is a small text file with a unique identifier placed on a browser or online device, used to collect limited information about your online preferences and increase website efficiency. When you visit the Website, CBI or one of our authorized third parties may place a cookie on your browser and/or device. We also use web beacons in some email communications. CBI uses such cookies and other tracking technologies to manage your preferences, customize and deliver content and advertising, provide social media features, and examine usage information pertaining to Website visits.

We may use both “session cookies” (which disappear once the browser is closed or computer is turned off) and “persistent cookies” (which remain in operation until deleted). You may manage website cookies in your relevant browser settings or by adjusting your cookie preferences here or via the pop-up at the bottom of the Website, and you always have the choice to change these settings by accepting, rejecting, or deleting cookies. If you choose to change your settings, you may find that certain Website or Services functions and features will not work as intended.

The following describes how we may use different categories of cookies and similar technologies:

Required or essential cookies. These cookies are necessary for the Website’s basic operations and there are no options to disable. For example, session cookies needed to transmit the Website, authentication cookies, and security cookies.

Social media cookies. These cookies allow users to share our Website or materials on social media sites. Because these cookies are not within our control, you should refer to each social media site’s respective privacy policies to understand how they work.

Advertising cookies. These cookies track activity across websites in order to understand a viewer’s interests, and to direct specific marketing to them. CB Insights may now or in the future elect to contract with third-party advertising networks that collect IP addresses and other information from web beacons on our websites, from emails and on third-party websites.

Analytics cookies. These cookies measure interactions and engagements with our Website and record information, such as page visits, time and approximate location of users, and user interactions with the Website, which allow us to better understand the use of our Website and make improvements.

Functional cookies. These cookies help us customize our website content based on a user’s preferences. They remember the user’s choices, their language, the country pages visited and any changes the user makes to text size or other parts of our website pages. The information these cookies collect may be anonymized and they cannot track browsing activity on other websites.

By using the Services, we may also receive certain third-party cookies located on your computer or device. Third party cookies are those placed by websites, services, and/or parties other than CB Insights. Third party cookies may be used within the Services.

The Services use Google Analytics services and YouTube API Services. You may prevent your data from being used by Google Analytics/YouTube API Services by downloading and installing the Google Analytics Opt-out Browser Add-on. Google’s ability to use and share information collected by Google Analytics about your visits to this Site is restricted by the Google Analytics Terms of Service and the Google Privacy Policy. You can learn more about how Google collects and processes data in connection with Google Analytics here.

- Legitimate interests of CBI or of a third party;
- Compliance with applicable laws, regulations, or legal process; and
- Explicit consent (where required under applicable law) to use your information (where we rely on your consent, you have the right to withdraw consent by contacting us as set forth below).

Such lawful bases are identified for the following common instances:

Administering our Website and Providing Services: Personal Data is processed to perform our contractual obligations, where applicable. In instances where we have not entered into a contract with you, such processing is based on our legitimate interest to manage and promote our business, operate and administer the Website, provide and improve the Services, and to provide requested content or materials (for example, when you request to download one of our reports from the Website or Services).

Customer Registration: In accordance with our contractual obligations or legitimate interest to provide Services, when you register for an account with CBI (whether as a paying client or on a complimentary basis), we may process your Personal Data as needed to register and administer your account, provide technical and client support and training, verify your identity, and send important account, subscription, and Services information.

Support Requests: If you request that CBI contacts you (for example, for free trial access or to learn about our offerings), or if you contact us by other means, we process your Personal Data to the extent it is necessary for our legitimate interest in fulfilling your requests and communicating with you, or as is required by contractual obligations.

Recruiting and Job Applications: We may use Personal Data for talent acquisition and/or job application evaluation, selection, and processing.

Compliance; Security and Functionality of Website and Services: For our legitimate interests in ensuring adherence to relevant terms, we process your Personal Data to review compliance with the applicable usage. Personal Data is also processed by tracking use of the Website and Services, to perform our contractual obligations, where applicable, to provide a secure and functional experience. In instances where we have not entered into a contract with you, such processing is based on our legitimate interest in promoting the safety and security of the Website, Services, systems and applications and in protecting our rights and the rights of others, whereby we reserve the right to monitor, investigate and report any attempts to breach the security of the Website or Services, verify accounts and activity, and enforce our terms and policies.

Event Registration and Attendance: We process your Personal Data to plan and host events, conferences, networking/community offerings for which you have registered or attend, including sending related communications to you, to perform on our contract with you, or as part of our legitimate interest to operate and improve our events business, enable peer networking opportunities, promote our brand, and collect relevant information for hospitality and health and safety purposes.

Developing Website and Services; Developing Offerings: We process your Personal Data to analyze trends, usage, and interactions with the Website and Services to the extent it is necessary for our legitimate interest in improving the Website and Services, developing new offerings, and providing individuals with tailored content and to personalize your experience with our Services. In certain instances, we will process your Personal Data for such development by directly seeking your input (for example, through surveys).

Improving Services and Offerings: It is our legitimate business interest to improve our Services and offerings through an increase in data provided to our clients to meet their demands; as such, we may process limited Personal Data of business professionals (more specifically, names, professional titles, professional experience, investment details, contact information and educational history).

Identifying Client Interests and Opportunities: Because it is in our legitimate business interest to meet our client demands and ensure positive user experiences, we may process your Personal Data to assess new potential customer opportunities as relevant.

Marketing Communications; Advertising. It is our legitimate business interest to promote our Website and Services, grow our company, and advertise our offerings (whether via direct marketing or providing personalized content advertisements), and as such we will process your Personal Data by sending certain marketing information, product recommendations, custom research, and other communications (for example, newsletters, sales calls, or other electronic communications) solely as necessary to reflect such legitimate interests, or, if applicable, to the extent you have provided your prior consent.

Payments: In the rare instances where you have provided financial information to us, CBI will process your Personal Data to verify such information and to collect payments solely as needed to complete a transaction and perform our contractual obligations.

Legal Obligations: We may be required to process Personal Data for legal and compliance reasons we believe to be necessary or appropriate under applicable law (which may include laws outside your country of residence). Such processing may be required to: respond to requests from courts, law enforcement agencies, regulatory agencies, and other public and government authorities; enforce our terms of service or other terms and conditions; or protect our rights, privacy, safety, or property, or those of other persons.

V. Disclosure of Personal Data

CBI may disclose Personal Data as follows:

Contracted Service Providers. As necessary to provide the Services, conduct our business operations, or when we believe that applicable law permits or requires disclosure, we may disclose Personal Data to contracted service providers, including entities which provide for hosting and system administration, payment processing, analytics, marketing, data enrichment, or client support. These service providers only receive Personal Data necessary to fulfill the services they provide to CBI. Under no circumstances are such service providers permitted to use Personal Data for any purpose other than to provide CBI with the designated services.

Your Employer or Organization. To the extent you are an authorized user of the Services or have otherwise registered for CBI offerings using your corporate email address, we may share Personal Data with your employer or organization to the extent necessary to provide you with access, verify accounts and activity, investigate suspicious activity, or enforce our terms and policies.

Event Sponsors. If you attend a CBI event, conferences, networking/community offerings, we may share limited Personal Data with certain event sponsors. If you do not wish for your information to be shared, you may choose not to participate in the event, may contact our events team as described in registration communications, or you may write to us as described below.

Mergers or Acquisitions. In the event of a merger, acquisition, consolidation, change of control, corporate divestiture or dissolution, or other corporate transaction where we sell all or a portion of our business or assets, we will disclose necessary Personal Data and such information will be governed by the privacy policies of acquiring entities. In accordance with applicable laws, we will notify you of any transfer of Personal Data to an unaffiliated third party.

Advertising Network Partners. We may disclose information collected automatically and passively using various technologies through our Website to advertising partners to target you with advertising.

Public Forums: If any part of the Website or CBI branded social media sites permit public forum posting, the Personal Data you choose to post, share, upload, or make publicly available may be visible to others. You should never post or share any information that is confidential or about others unless you have permission to do so. We may use information you provide to personalize your experience and to make content recommendations.

However, some of our service providers referenced above may process Personal Data outside your jurisdiction, and in countries that are not subject to an adequacy decision by the European Commission or your local legislature and/or regulator (including India and Ukraine), and that may not provide the same level of data protection as your jurisdiction. We ensure that Personal Data subject to transfers to third countries continues to be protected in a manner consistent with the standards of protection required under applicable law, for instance by entering into the appropriate standard contractual clauses for the transfer of data as approved by the European Commission (Art. 46 GDPR).

VII. Minors

CBI's Services are solely intended for business clients and are not directed at minors. We do not knowingly collect Personal Data from children under the age of 16. If you are a parent or guardian and believe your child has provided us with Personal Data without your consent, please contact us as set forth below in Section XI, and we will take steps to delete such Personal Data from our systems.

VIII. Retention Periods

CBI retains Personal Data for a period commensurate with the purpose for which the Personal Data was obtained. In addition, retention periods may be determined by other criteria, such as the nature and sensitivity of the Personal Data, including any potential risk of harm which could arise out of unauthorized use or disclosure, as well as whether additional legal/regulatory obligations require us to retain it.

IX. Your Privacy Rights

Depending on the laws that apply to you, you may have certain rights regarding your Personal Data. These rights may include:

- Right to access your Personal Data and correct inaccuracies. You may have the right to access Personal Data we maintain about you and, in most circumstances, to be provided with a copy of this information. You may also have the right to correct any inaccuracies relating to your Personal Data within our control.
- Right to restrict use. To the extent permitted by applicable law, you may have the right to restrict our processing of Personal Data.

- Right to object to processing. Where we process your Personal Data on the basis of our legitimate interests or the legitimate interests of a third party (e.g., direct marketing purposes), you may have the right to object to such processing without having to provide any specific reason for such objection. Where required by applicable law, we will stop processing your Personal Data until we verify that we have compelling legitimate grounds for processing that outweigh your interests, rights, and freedoms, or in limited cases, where we need to continue processing the data for the establishment, exercise, or defense of legal claims.

- Right to withdraw consent. To the extent we base the processing of your Personal Data on your consent, you may have the right to withdraw consent without affecting the lawfulness of the processing based on such consent before its withdrawal.
- Right to data portability. In some instances, you may have the right to receive all Personal Data you have provided to us in a structured, commonly used, and machine-readable format and to transmit this data to another data controller, to the extent such transfer is technically feasible.
- Right to lodge a complaint with a supervisory authority. Provided you are in the UK or EU/EEA, you have the right to file a complaint regarding the processing of your Personal Data with the data protection authority (“DPA”) in the country where you reside, where you work, or where the alleged infringement of data protection laws has taken place. To file a complaint with the UK Information Commissioner’s Office, please click here. For a list of DPAs within the EU/EEA, please see this link. Other regulatory authorities may be relevant for individuals outside the EU/EEA.

Occasionally it may take us longer than a month, taking into account the complexity and number of requests we receive. We do not charge a fee to process or respond to your verifiable consumer request unless it is excessive, repetitive, or manifestly unfounded.
